ABOUT SRI AMRITSAR

Sri Amritsar was founded by Sri Guru Ramdass ji, the fourth guru of the Sikhs in about 1574 A.D. Before the city was founded, the area was covered with thick forests and had several lakes. To start the city the Guru invited 52 traders from different sectors belongings to nearby places like Patti and Kasur to settle here. These families started the first 32 shops in the city which still stand in the street called Batisi Hatta (32 shops). The Guru himself shifted to live among them in the city which came to be called Ramdaspur and has been eulogised in the Guru Granth Sahib.

Sri Amritsar, known for rich cultural heritage of four centuries, is living symbol of historical and religious traditions of Sikhs tangibly expressed through the divinely blessed shrines. Historically speaking, the fourth Guru, Guru Ram Das Ji built the Sarovar and laid the foundation of Amritsar, which became a sacred place for the pilgrimage of the community. The fifth Guru, Guru Arjan Dev Ji built Sri Harimandir Sahib in the centre of the Sarovar and the foundation was laid by Sai Mian Mir. Maharaja Ranjit Singh captured the city in 1805 and his first important act was to gild the whole structure of Sri Harimandir Sahib with gold. The city has been the center of activities for various historical events and freedom struggle in the last four centuries.

This city in north western India and the administrative headquarters of Amritsar district in the state of Punjab. The city lies about 25 km east of the border with Pakistan and is a major commercial, cultural, and transportation centre. The early name of the city was Chak Guru. Before its establishment, the area under the city was a part of the vast area covered under Indus valley Civilization during the early period of history. A city of historic walls and impressive gateways, Amritsar gained importance under the reign of Maharaja Ranjit Singh, one of the most resplendent figures in Sikh history. The city lies on the Grand Trunk road, Asia's one of the oldest and longest major roads connecting Eastern & Western parts of Indian sub-continent, built by King Sher Shah Suri in year 1539.

Everybody, irrespective of cast, creed or race can seek spiritual solace and religious fulfilment without any hindrance. It also represents the distinct identity, glory and heritage of the Sikhs. To pen-down the philosophy, ideology, the inner and outer beauty, as well as the historical legacy of Sri Harimandir Sahib is a momentous task. It is a matter of experience rather than a description. In Sri Harimandir Sahib Parikarma, Akal Takht literally means Eternal Throne. The Akal Takht is situated on the other end of the causeway connected to Sri Harmandir Sahib. It's foundation was laid by Guru Hargobind Sahib. The building of the Akal Takht opposite the Sri Harmandir Sahib has a special meaning. Congratulating all graduating students on reaching a milestone of great significance in their lives and careers, Governor of Punjab said that indeed they achieved this with complemented by the strong support of their parents and the dedication their gurus that has paved the way for this achievement.

He said that higher education system in India has undergone rapid expansion after Independence. Currently, India's higher education system is the largest in the world enrolling over 70 million students while in less than two decades, India has managed to create additional capacity for over 40 million students. He said that India aspires to be a global leader, attain a high global position in academic excellence, and become an education destination for the world.

Governor said that if this dream is to be achieved, in the wake of the National Education Policy 2020, we must ensure that we impart quality education to our students and make them excellent citizens who would stand on their own in the global scene.

He said that education of a good quality must become accessible to all, be affordable and should lead to a positive transformation in an individual's outlook, societal cohesion and inclusive national development. We must harness this power of education, and unleash the creative energies of young heads, hands and hearts. The new India we are dreaming of will be built on soaring aspirations and acquisition of new competencies. It will be built on the knowledge, skills and attitudes we impart in our classrooms and the innovation we foster in our workshops and laboratories. That is where the future of our nation lies and is being shaped every day, he added.

His Excellency said that education is both, a means and an end. As a source of power to transform human lives and society, education is a means. As a culminating process for acquiring knowledge, it is an end. He said that education delivers light from darkness and strengthens human capacity to decipher good from bad. It is the beacon of progress and prosperity.

He said that university is at the top of the formal education pyramid. It is, therefore, incumbent upon universities to guide the direction of progress of the society. Ancient India had a tradition of world-class learning, represented by renowned universities at Nalanda, Takshashila, Vikramashila, Valabhi, Odantapuri and Somapura. These seats of learning dominated the world education system for eighteen hundred years beginning sixth century BC. This system started declining from twelfth century AD. Indian higher education is yet to regain that frontline position.

He said that how do we transform our universities into great learning centres? At first, there is a need to link education with research and innovation in a seamless manner. Education disseminates Knowledge while Research creates New Knowledge. Innovation converts that Knowledge into Wealth and Social Good.

He said that promoting inter-disciplinary research and research at under graduate level, boosting collaborative research and joint research papers, and encouraging bright students to enter the research field are some of the steps required in this direction. Emphasis is being laid on research at the Guru Nanak Dev University. Recently a lot of dynamism has been seen in the startup business throughout the country. India has taken big strides in creating a start-up ecosystem with the launch of the 'Start up India' programme in 2016, he added.

His Excellency said that it is a matter of pride that Guru Nanak Dev University has arisen as a noteworthy centre to impart theoretical education, hands-on training and entrepreneurial expansion skills to the youth, women and relegated sections of society. He said that engaging with the best of business and professional education institutions both national and international, GNDU has forged alliances and partnerships with exclusive educational, industry and business organisations to gain insight into the needs of establishments.

While appreciating the achievements of the university he said that it is a matter of pride that Guru Nanak Dev University is that the Centre of Excellence established in GNDU, funded by the Government of India, is MYAS-GNDU Department of ports Sciences and Medicine. It has become the highest ranked centre in North Asia and is being replicated in India and abroad. He said that the achievements of the University in the fields of cultural activities and sports are also noteworthy. He congratulated university for winning the Maulana Abul Kalam Azad Trophy (the highest Sports Award for a university in the country) for a record number of 24 times speaks volumes about the achievements of this university in the field of Sports. He also appreciated Guru Nanak Dev University as a clean and green campus.

He said that our universities are the torchbearers of socio-economic development. The relevance of their teaching must extend beyond the classrooms, to the society and the nation. At the same time, they must, through their own example, usher in socio-economic change. The Government initiatives aimed at faster economic development, namely Swachh Bharat, Digital India and Make in India, have the potential to lift India to the state of an advanced nation, he added.

He said that our education model must not only develop the mind but also create positive mind sets. Expanding a student's ability must go hand in hand with building his attitude. A creative mind set combined with a positive attitude can help unearth solutions to problems afflicting the society like malnutrition, affordable healthcare, efficient energy use etc. He said that the objective of education is not merely the acquisition of knowledge but the production of competent manpower.

While advising students he said that today they are completing a very important phase of life. Now they are entering a world which is very fast paced and is a very strict master. He said that till now they used to learn first then to give examination, but now they will be tested first then get knowledge about where the mistake happened.

He said that at the same time this world is full of potential for quick and consistent learners. With their degrees, they have a dual responsibility and they have to live up to their own as well as their parents' expectations and also fulfil their duties towards the society and the country with full dedication, honesty and diligence.

Sh. Iqbal Singh Chahal and Prof. Gagandeep Kang also shared their experiences of life with the students. They inspired the students to respect their parents and teachers and contribute for development of the nation while keeping in mind the teachings of Sri Guru Nanak Dev University with hard work and great dedication. About the Department

A programme with specialization in textile chemistry was introduced in Department of Textile Chemistry, Guru Nanak Dev University as B.Sc. (textile Chemistry) in 1995 with a view to generate technically trained human resource for the textile industry upon keen interest shown by North Indian textile industries. Later, in 1997, the B.Sc. (3 years) degree was converted to B.Tech. (4 years) in Textile chemistry. In 2018, again with the aim to broaden the scope of placement in multinational companies at national and international level, course curriculum of B.Tech degree was redesigned and named as B.Tech (Textile Processing Technology). Time to time, course curriculum gets redesigned and updated in consultation with industries that results in 100% placement of graduate students. In April, 2022, M.Sc. Apparel and Textiles (2 year programme) course was offered along with existing B.tech (Textile processing technology) in the academic session 2022-2023 in the independent newly established Department of Apparel and Textile Technology. ELECTRONICS TECHNOLOGY

About the Department

The Department of Electronics Technology was started in July 1983 with a vision to impart quality knowledge in the field of core Electronics as well as different facets of communication such as Microwave, Optical, Wireless, Data Communication, Digital Signal Processing and Image Processing so as to nurture the excellence in the students and enhance their capability to meet the ever growing challenges in the field of electronics and communication engineering. The department has established itself as nodal centre for contemporary research in the area of Optical Communication, Microwave Materials, Wireless and Data Communication, Nanomaterial applications in Electronics, VLSI and Molecular Electronics etc. The department boasts of well-developed research facilities for research in the field of optical communication. The department is contributing towards research in the field of fiber non-linearity control methods, gain flatness of optical fiber amplifiers, development of novel methods for optical switching and optical coupling.The current research is towards implementation of underwater optical communication and in visible light spectrum for applications such as secured military communication and radiation free communication in hospitals. Microwave ferrites and dielectric ceramics find applications in practical systems like radars, microwave absorbers, wireless communication systems, mobile base stations, satellite uplinks & broadcasting systems. Radar absorbing paints made from ferrites can be used to coat military aircraft for stealth operation. The department has state of the art facility to fabricate and characterize these materials especially at microwave frequencies in GHz range for such applications. The Carbon based molecular electronic components are being considered as alternative to conventional Silicon based electronic components. Atomistic modelling has been at the forefront of computational investigation of nanomaterials and has revealed a wealth of information on structure and properties of individual structural elements such as Nanowires, Nano films, Nano ribbons using Graphene, Fullerene, Carbon Nano Tube, Organic and Inorganic molecules as well as the characteristics of the interfacial regions and modification of the material properties at the nanoscale. The department feels proud to possess a dynamic and energetic faculty having a recognized research experience in their niche areas.

CENTRE ON STUDIES IN SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB

Introduction of the Department:

Sri Guru Granth Sahib occupies a unique place among the world scriptures. On the occasion of the 400th anniversary of its Instalation on September 1, 2004, the then Honourable Prime Minister, Dr. Manmohan Singh had announced the establishment of Centre on Studies in Sri Guru Granth Sahib. This Centre was inaugurated in Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar on April 1, 2011. The building of Sri Guru Granth Sahib Bhawan has been built in Sikh Architecture over 82,000 square feet.

This Centre undertakes research work on the following aspects of Sri Guru Granth Sahib :

- Interfaith Understanding Studies
- Philosophical and Theological Studies
- Musicological Studies
- Hermeneutic and Linguistic Studies
- Social and Cultural Studies
- Scriptural Translations

To conduct research in these fields, provision is made for Six Professor, Six Visiting Professors and 18 research fellows. Our focus is on the development of research tools which may be useful for doing studies on Sri Guru Granth Sahib. Besides supplementing the sources of Sikh religion, history and literature we are working on those areas which are very crucial for the Sikh Studies but have remained ignored so far.

The Centre for Basic and Translational Research in Health Sciences (CBTRHS) is established in the University in 2019 under Component 4.0 of RUSA 2.0 scheme with a budgetary provision of Rs. 10 Crore. Its main goal is to provide the necessary platform for converting fundamental research and concepts into useful practices in the field of health sciences. The foundational research and concepts in the field of health sciences can now be translated into practical applications due to the development of the Centre for "Basic and Translational Research in Health Sciences." Leading researchers from Guru Nanak Dev University working in various important fields of health science are also being brought together by the Center. By giving resources to researchers, employees, scholars, trainees and other stakeholders, it serves as a catalyst for advancing health science research. The Centre is also in process of developing a centralized facility in Emerging Life Science building to provide a centralized resource dedicated to facilitating biomedical research, promote multidisciplinary basic & translational research, and foster long term collaboration between clinicians & basic science researchers.

The major objectives of this Centre are

i. To be a pioneer in improving clinical care and health by developing innovative strategies for prevention, early diagnosis and treatment of disease.

ii. To find problem-based solutions in the area of health sciences using modern technologies and multidimensional approach.

iii. Address key challenges in the area of diagnostics, drug discovery, drug delivery and regulatory compliance.

iv. Developing innovative, cost-effective technologies to solve complex problems in the area of health sciences.

CENTRE FOR DATA ANALYTICS AND RESEARCH (CDAR)

The Centre for Data Analytics and Research, CDAR, was established with an intent to provide impetus to quality research in the region and equip researchers to indulge in meaningful research to match the world class levels. The Centre is committed to hone the research acumen of the young and seasoned researchers and provide solutions for quality research output. This was primarily with the intent to take research from margins to mainstream and carve an enviable niche in the research society. The Centre remains committed to its edifying goals and has been working to provide every possible assistance to the researchers of the region- from within and beyond the university and instil a creative and constructive research spirit and provide a strong foothold to the researchers for a rewarding and satisfying experience. The following are the specific activities undertaken by centre during the academic year:

1. Access to comprehensive and competitive databases: In the light of the indispensability of data and its paramount importance in research work, CDAR has made available the comprehensive and most accessed database for researchers in field of social sciences. ACE Equity is a corporate database of listed and unlisted companies with their financial and non-financial information kept updated every day through internet. The database involves extensive data coverage at company, industry, business house level for satiating the intense data requirements of researchers. CDAR has yet again made available this database (another year) and also provides assistance to researchers in retrieving the data from this extensive database. In addition, CDAR also obtained licensed access of ProwessIQ, which is a powerful internet-based application for querying CMIE's database on performances of listed and unlisted companies. ProwessIQ provides charting tools and well-formatted reports on performances of companies. The reports provide financial information including analytical ratios and benchmark comparisons. Access is ensured for all users (upto 65,000 researchers can register) in the campus making access available through their own systems and accessing data though interactive query builders.

   DATABASE SOFTWARE USERS 109

2. Guidance and solutions for researchers: CDAR has espoused itself to the cause and service researchers from university and outside and provides assistance to students, faculty and scholars on issues which may hamper their research journey. The Centre and its committed staff offers services relating to various facets of research ranging from accessing the literature, data collection, data cleaning and most importantly in analysing the data in the best and methodologically sound manner. Following research scholars were successfully guided by the centre.

3. Promoting use of Open Source Software: In the current times of influx of voluminous data the statistical analysis has assumed added significance and analytical processes need to be scientific yet comprehensive. In the face of indispensability of statistical operations and very highly priced data analysis software which prove a drain on financial resources CDAR is attempting to create a culture of open source software. Centre has shouldered the responsibility of sensitising the researchers about the efficacy and eminence of open source software, creating awareness about these software and underlying ethical considerations, sharing links for accessing these software and making the users familiar to these software. The centre is trying to create a culture of making open source software a part of research analysis and has been promoting use of software like R, R studio, R Commander, Jamovi, Gretl, Bluesky, Jasp etc.

4. Instrument validation and scientific research work: CDAR has committed itself to assisting researchers and provide solutions to the minor and major hiccups faced in their research journey. To enhance the quality of research work and ensure no compromise at any stage, the MYAS Department of the university has made it mandatory for the students of project work to get their data collection instruments validated before data collection. This involves guidance of students in construction of data collection instrument (questionnaire/interview schedule etc.) and documented visits to centre together with written approval from the Director, CDAR of the instrument validation. Formal documents for appointment proforma, sequential visits, suggestions for improvement and final validation of instrument have all been approved and put in place with an intent to have a directed research journey.

5. Admission and counselling coordination: As a Centre for analysis and programming, CDAR has been able to contribute in the smooth working of the university in all its years of existence by being an active part in programs driven working of The Department for Life Long Learning, the Electricity Department and others. This year also, like many previous years, CDAR initiated, conceived and successfully implemented the processes and programs for the counselling process for UG level courses in University School of Financial Studies, University Business School, School of Social Sciences, Department of Computer Science, Department of Hotel Management & Tourism, Department of Computational Statistics & Data Analytics, Department of Mass Communication, Centre for Agricultural Research & Innovation and PG level courses in University School of Financial Studies and University Business School. It was indeed a Herculean task this time, with huge number of candidates and increased courses available. The team at CDAR with their software and program driven approach successfully conducted the written test and offline counselling processes with zero error policy and this included generating systems for conduct, creating lists, ensuring correct course allotment, generating fee slips and enabling payments through all modes. The diligence and cooperation of the entire CDAR team and the university authorities, the counselling process was a huge success.

The Centre for Data Analytics and Research understands the huge responsibility that it shoulders in the wake of highly dynamic times characterised by information overload, strengthened benchmarks in research and academics, added quality checks, enraging ethical issues and controversies and the continuous need to excel and perform. Through trainings, counselling, data analysis and data availability CDAR is keeping its relevance intact in order to keep research relevant and rewarding. CDAR has planned a series of workshops and training sessions for students, researchers, faculty and employees to instil confidence through knowledge and skills and add wings to their aspirations and abilities. It remains committed to edifying exercise of strengthening the research profile of the university, region and nation which definitely has started to be reflected in the better research efforts and healthy research culture in the university.

INFLIBNET Centre provides access to anti plagiarism software namely 'Ouriginal'.

Automation and Digitization

Earlier, Bhai Gurdas Library was having a system where circulation of books was being done by in house developed software. As this is not fully integrated system and has certain limitations like one has to keep record manually for the books in circulation and faculty and students are not able to track the status of their library account and lot of human intervention is required in day-to-day tasks. In order to overcome this and to make the library system more effective and user-friendly following steps have been taken:

A fully Integrated LMS(KOHA) has been implemented in the library with complete RFID Integration which automates data collection and vastly reduces human effort and error.

This facilitates automated access to faculty, research scholars and students. In this System, once students/ faculty members enter in the library, his/her entry is automatically recorded by tapping RFID Smart ID Cards issued to them on Access Control Flap barriers. OPAC Kiosks are available for searching the books on every floor through Koha and users can locate the books easily as floor number rack number is already given in the system. Students/Faculty/ members scan independently issue/return books using RFID Equipment without any human intervention. All users (PATRONS) can track their account on KOHA system where they can see the details of books issued to them and their due date and fine imposed in case of delay etc. Users can also hold the book which is already issued and intimation will be sent to the user once it is available for issuance. All the books in the library are tagged with RFID tags and thus any kind of theft is also being prevented with the installation of RFID Security Gates.

NATIONAL ACADEMIC DEPOSITORY (NAD)

Indian Higher Education system is a large and growing system with approximately 60 school boards, 416 state universities, 124 deemed universities, 54 central universities and 364 private universities. Apart from these, there are 107 other institutions such as IISc/IITs/ IIMs/NITs/IISERs/IIITs/NITIE and 12 other centrally funded institutions. These institutions issue academic awards to students including degrees, diplomas and certificates along with mark sheets and evaluation reports. Apart from these, institutions under various Ministries/Departments and other skill based institutions also dispense certificates, diplomas and advanced diploma. Those who are entering into employment or pursuing higher studies require a credible, authentic and convenient mechanism for access, retrieval and validation of such academic awards. Retrieval of old academic records maintained in paper form is cumbersome. Academic records maintained in paper form are susceptible to hazards such as spoilage and forgery. Students often face difficulties in obtaining copies of their certificates/mark-sheets whenever they are lost or destroyed.

Maintaining academic awards in an electronic depository would provide benefit to educational institutions, students and employers by enabling online access of academic awards which will eliminate the need for persons to approach educational institutions for obtaining transcripts of such awards or marks-sheets for verification. It would also eliminate fraudulent practices such as forging of certificates and mark-sheets, by facilitating online verifications thereof.

The National Academic Depository aims at ensuring a credible and convenient mechanism for online lodging, verification and authentication of the academic awards issued by various educational institutions. The vision of National Academic Depository (NAD) is born out of an initiative to provide an online store house of all academic awards. National Academic Depository (NAD) is a 24X7 online store house of all academic awards viz.certificates, diplomas, degrees, mark-sheets etc. duly digitised and lodged by academic institutions / boards / eligibility assessment bodies. NAD not only ensures easy access to and retrieval of an academic award but also validates and guarantees its authenticity and safe storage.

Digi Locker is a provider of NAD services and aims at ‘Digital Empowerment’ of citizen by providing access to authentic digital documents to citizen’s digital document wallet. Maintaining academic awards in an electronic depository would provide benefit to educational institutions, students and employers by enabling online access of academic awards which will eliminate the need for persons to approach educational institutions for obtaining transcripts of such awards for verification. It would also eliminate fraudulent practices such as forging of awards, by facilitating online verification thereof and maintains the authenticity, integrity and confidentiality of the award. It aspires to make the vision of Digital Academic awards for every Indian a reality.

Guru Nanak Dev University has joined the Digi locker platform to provide digital access to its degree certificates. Students who graduated in the years 2015 to 2022 can find their degree data on the portal. The university has uploaded more than 3,22,000 degree records so far. The university is also part of the Academic Bank of credits scheme, which allows transfer of student's credits across institutions. The university departments and colleges are encouraging students to create their ABC-IDs, and more than 16000 IDs have been created already.

SOLID LIQUID WASTE MANAGEMENT

Nodal Officer: Dr Dalbir Singh.Sogi, Professor, Dept of Food Science and Technology

Human activity generates different types of wastes which need to be managed in a scientific way to create a pleasant atmosphere. Guru Nanak Dev University is a 'Category A++' University by the UGC because of its outstanding performance in academics, sports and cultural accomplishments. The University is equally concerned about the health and wellbeing of students and staff. It has taken several measures to provide clean and green environment. The University has resolved to make the campus a 'Zero Waste Campus'. In order to achieve this goal, Solid Liquid Resource Management (SLRM)Centre was established in 2016. SLRM committee was constituted to manage the activities of this centre consisting of Prof Dalbir Singh Sogi as convener and Prof Arvinder Kaur, Prof Manpreet Singh Bhatti, Dr Kiran Sandhu, Dr Vikram Sandhu, Sanitary Inspector as members. SLRM Committee has taken many steps to manage different types of solid wastes.

Solid waste generation points:

The main campus is spread over 500 acres land and situated towards the west side of the Amritsar city. It can be divided into academic and residential areas. Academic area consists of teaching and non-teaching departments. There are 35 academic departments housed in seventeen buildings. The University has over 5000 students and more than 350 faculty members teaching different courses. Non teaching departments are functioning from six buildings. The residential area includes 409 houses of teaching and non-teaching employees, four Girl hostels, four boy hostels, one sports hostel, one faculty house, one working women hostel, two Guest Houses, ten canteens and cafeterias. All these buildings produce solid waste which is collected on daily basis.

Solid waste collection system:

Solid waste is collected in different types of the bins with colour code green, red and black. Green colored bins are used to collect biodegradable waste; red bins are used to collect non-biodegradable waste; whereas black colored bins were used for the collection of used masks. One tractor-trolley with driver and helper collects the solid waste from the campus whereas one e-rickshaw with two employees collects biodegradable waste from door to door. The Non-biodegradable or dry solid wastes are collected from teaching, non-teaching and residential area and taken to the SLRM centre where this waste is segregated and all the recyclable material are separated and send to the recycling units for further processing. Biodegradable or wet solid waste is collected by a dedicated team separately and is utilized to convert it into compost, biogas or animal feed. Cooked biodegradable waste is generated mainly from the messes where students leave a small part of their meal which is collected in a drum and is collected by dairy farmers to feed their animals. Uncooked waste mainly peels of the vegetables and fruits are collected by SLRM persons from door to door. This waste is converted into vermicompost and microbial compost. This waste is also utilized for the production of biogas.

Quantification of the waste generation:

The average solid waste collection on daily basis is as follows:

- Cooked waste 110kg per day
- Uncooked Waste 31 kg per day
- Recyclable dry waste 35 kg per day
- Non-recyclable waste 40 kg per day
- Biomedical Waste 1 kg per day [Collected from Health Center and Teaching Departments by Amritsar Envirocare Systems,Ibbankalan Amritsar]
- Sanitary waste generation NIL [Incineration units Installed in all the girl Hostels]
- Garden waste: University has adopted on-site-decomposing method in which the garden waste is crushed and mixed with the soil for natural composting.

Utilization of the Solid waste:

SLRM Centre was created to utilize the solid waste generated in the campus and it has taken many steps to maximize the extraction of useful products from the waste.

Non-Biodegradable or dry waste collection and utilization: Bins have been provided in the entire campus at all the suitable places. The dry waste is dumped into these bins. This dry waste collection system is working well. One tractor-trolley along with one driver and one helper collects the non-biodegradable waste from these bins. The collected waste is taken to SLRM Centre where it is segregated into white paper, newspaper, corrugated fiber board boxes, glass bottles, plastic bottles, metal, plastic film etc. These items are sent to the recycling industry through a contractor.

Cooked waste utilization: It is a biodegradable waste which is produced mainly in Boys and Girls hostels. The leftover food is collected in a plastic drum. Dairy farmers visit the mess every day in the early morning and take away the waste to feed the dairy animals.

Organic waste collection: University has procured two E-rickshaws for the collection of the organic waste from residential area, hostel messes and canteens. The workers move regularly from door to door to collect organic waste from residential areas, hostel messes and canteens. The organic waste is taken to the SLRM Centres and utilized for preparation of vermin/microbial compost and biogas.

Vermicomposting: One vermicomposting unit is being run at the SLRM Centre in a shed. Cow dung is procured from the local vendors and used to rear the earthworms. Once the earth worms become active, the uncooked waste collected from the hostel messes, canteens and residential area is crushed in a grinder to reduce the particle size. The ground waste is fed to the earth worms by opening the raw and transferring the waste into the rows followed by covering with the composting material. The ground waste takes about 8-10 days in summer to get completely decomposed.

Microbial Composting: The garden waste and uncooked waste are decomposed under aerobic condition following Bengalore Model. Three layer system has been adopted in which the first layer is of leaves from garden waste, second layer is of ground uncooked waste and the third layer is of cow dung. Two pits are constructed having dimensions of 10ft x 12ft x 4ft. Once the first pit is filled then the composting matter is transferred to the second pit. The compost is allowed to decompose in second pit for one month. The compost is kept moist by sprinkling water regularly all the time. The final compost is of dark brown colour without any off odour.

Biogas unit: One biogas plant was designed to utilize the uncooked waste to produce energy. The design was developed by calculating the amount of biogas required by a family of four persons. The biogas plant is under trial for the production of biogas.

Pre-composting Unit: The pre-composting unit is designed to partially degrade the garden waste. The volume of waste generation varies due to vacations and academic or other events organised in the campus. The pre-composting unit ensures a regular supply of the partially composed waste for vermicomposting, microbial composting and biogas generation. The pre-composting unit is being used to decompose primarily the dry leaves.

Future Plans

Leaf Shredder: The campus produces lot of garden waste which gets dried and become resistant to composting. There is a requirement of one lead shredder to reduce the particle size to facilitate composting. SLRM Centre will make efforts to procure one lead shredder to manage the garden waste effectively.

Organic waste Composter: One organic waste converter has been sanctioned under RUSA-II scheme. This organic waste converter will be used to convert the biodegradable waste into high quality compost under aerobic conditions. It will use specially designed microbial culture along with controlled temperature and aeration to facilitate the microbes to degrade the organic waste.

SLRM centre is successful in managing the all the recyclable and biodegradable wastes being produced in the campus. These efforts have contributed to make our campus clean and green.
